Which Addreſſes Her Majeſty received very graciouſly.

Warſaw, September 19. N. S. This Morning an Expreſs arrived here from Adrianople with an Account, that the Grand Signior had declared he would religiouſly obſerve the Treaty of Carlowitz. The King of Sweden was perfectly recovered of his late Indiſpoſition, but it was very difficult to get Acceſs to him, and the Polanders of his Retinue were not ſuffered to go any where without a Guard of two Janiſaries. King Staniſlaus and the Palatin of Kiovia were ſtill in Confinement at Bender.

Hanover, September 22. N. S. Monſieur de Schulenbourg is gone to reſide at the Court of Gottorp with the Character of Envoy Extraordinary from his Electoral Highneſs to the King of Denmark. Letters from Pomerania bring an Account, that Major-General Buck, a Native of Mecklenbourg, but at preſent in the Service of the Czar, had left the Camp before Stetin with Four hundred Muſcovite Horſe, and advanced to Nieſtad, the Reſidence of the Duke of Mecklenbourg. Upon his approach to the Town, his Highneſs ordered the Gates to be ſhut, but at the ſame time ſent him word they ſhould be opened to him, provided he would be content to come in alone. He accepted of this Condition, and being admitted to the Duke, demanded a very large quantity of Corn for the Subſiſtance of the Muſcovite Forces: The Duke told him it was impoſſible for his Subjects to furniſh ſo much, his Country having been already deſtroyed by the Czar's Troops, and thoſe of his Confederates. Upon this Anſwer the General withdrew, and in his return to the Camp he took ſeveral Hoſtages with him, to ſecure the Payment of the Contributions he has eſtabliſhed in that Dutchy. The ſame Letters add, that the Muſcovites had made themſelves Maſters of Fort Star before Stetin, and had erected a Battery there, from whence they play on the Town, though hitherto with very little Succeſs. They write from Holſtein, that Tonningen was reduced to the laſt Extremity, but it was believed the King of Denmark would conſent that a Pruſſian Garriſon ſhould be received into the Place, eſpecially ſince the Saxon Troops are retired from Pomerania, and the Swedes are preparing to make a Tranſportation of Forces, and have Twenty large Men of War, beſides ſome Frigats, ready to ſet ſail from Carlſcroon.

Berlin, Sept. 23. N. S. His Majeſty is expected here this Day from Potſdam. Letters from Elſingfos bring an account, that on the 11th paſt the Czar ſet Sail from Cronſlet with a Fleet conſiſting of fifty Veſſels laden with Ammunition and Proviſions for the Uſe of the Muſcovite Army in Finland. In their Paſſage they met with ſo violent a Storm, that twelve Ships ran a-ground, and the Czar apprehending the ſame Misfortune would happen to the Frigat he was in, Landed with great Difficulty and Danger in a ſmall Boat. But the Storm being over, his Majeſty went on board again the next Day, and on the 17th he arrived at Elſingfos, where he found his Troops in a very good Condition. It is ſaid they amount to Eighteen thouſand Foot and Five thouſand Horſe and Dragoons, all which were to march towards Abo on the 26th of Auguſt. The Swediſh Forces conſiſt of no more than Nine thouſand Men, who upon the approach of the Muſcovites divided themſelves, and the Infantry
